

Upcoming VIRTUAL Training—CE Credit Available

Introduction to Trauma and Trauma-Informed Framework

When: February 10, 2021 1:00—2:30 PM (Via Zoom)

Description: Trauma unfortunately is more universal than once thought. The lived experience of traumatic events can vary greatly, which makes it vital to have basic trauma competence as a healthcare provider. This workshop will introduce participants to the potential impact trauma can have on individuals throughout the lifespan. In addition, participants will gain basic knowledge in utilizing a trauma-informed approach at the individual and community level.

Learning Objectives:

- Acquire introductory knowledge of the nature of trauma
- Explain potential impact trauma can have on persons in care
- Describe fundamental aspects of trauma-informed approach to care

Matthew Walsh, PhD, LPC, NCC obtained his PhD from Duquesne University. He has 18 years of experience in higher education. He is a full-time psychotherapist and Coordinator of Community Engagement at Duquesne University's Counseling Services. In addition, Dr. Walsh is a consultant and adjunct faculty member at two Universities. Dr. Walsh has co-created a new community-based intervention called, Trauma-informed Community Development with the Neighborhood Resilience Project in Pittsburgh, PA.

Questions?
(302) 255-9480
DSAMH.Training@delaware.gov

How to Register
Need to Create an Account?
<https://stateofdelaware.csod.com/default.aspx?c=dsamh-selfreg>
Have an Account?
(State Users) id.delaware.gov
(External Users) <https://dhr.delaware.gov/training/>

