In the first year of the Northeast and Caribbean Mental Health Technology Transfer Center (MHTTC) we reached out to and connected with provider organizations, strategic partners, and key stakeholders. We learned about the workforce development needs of our region and began to take action to address these needs. We provided trainings and technical assistance on a variety of topics, to diverse groups of audiences, using varied delivery formats. Learn more about our Year 1 activities below.

Areas of Focus:

“Everything [was helpful], from the flag activity to the practice skills/interventions for clients in the LGBTQ+ community, this training will really help improve my knowledge and therapeutic work with my current and future clients.”

“...the resource material will be very helpful, such as the warning signs flyer, for medical center staff. In addition, the presenter’s approach was well organized and can inform my efforts to present this material to medical center providers and staff...”
