

Hidden in Plain Sight:

How Racism & Bias
Demand Effective Training

LAND & LABOR ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

The Northwest MHTTC acknowledges the Native and Indigenous peoples who are tied to this land through history, legends, and culture since time immemorial, and whose lands were forcibly taken. This acknowledgment is a commitment to show respect, build relationships, learn and remember tribal history and sovereignty, and work for justice in these communities.

We also acknowledge that like most modern-day U.S. institutions, the University of Washington benefits from the unaddressed legacy of stolen labor and slavery, which is at the foundation of this nation and its vast and inequitable wealth. We recognize our debt to exploited workers past and present whose labor was and continues to be stolen through unjust practices.

Our hopes for today:

- Moving toward equity
- How racism & bias affect us
- Share lived experiences
- Training models
- Free resources

We are not experts, we humbly offer our experience and perspective

Why are you here today?

What creates barriers

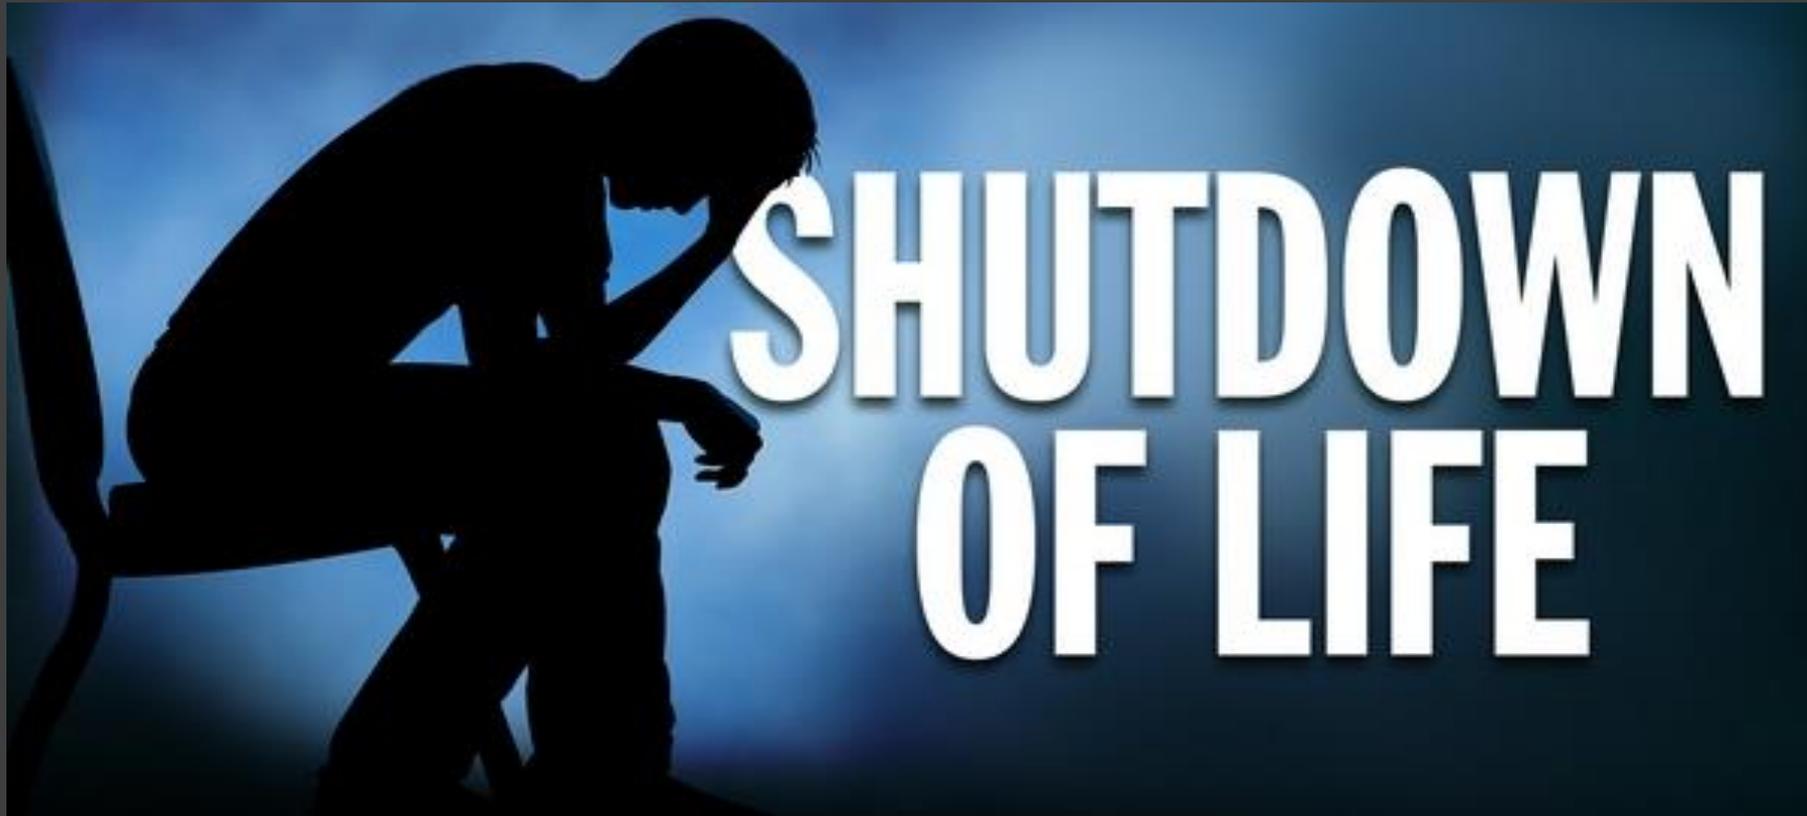

Lack of understanding = Lack of meaningful relationships

Judging is Easier than Understanding

Lack of Understanding Creates Barriers

Barriers Reinforce Ignorance

And Ignorant of the Cycle, We Perpetuate It

Statistically

- There are culture specific reasons preventing minorities from using available services: It's harder for them to see the effectiveness of service.
- Minority groups have a higher dropout rate and poorer treatment outcomes due to cultural insensitivity of standard treatment methods
- Asians and Native Americans access the system at a lower rate than African Americans and Europeans

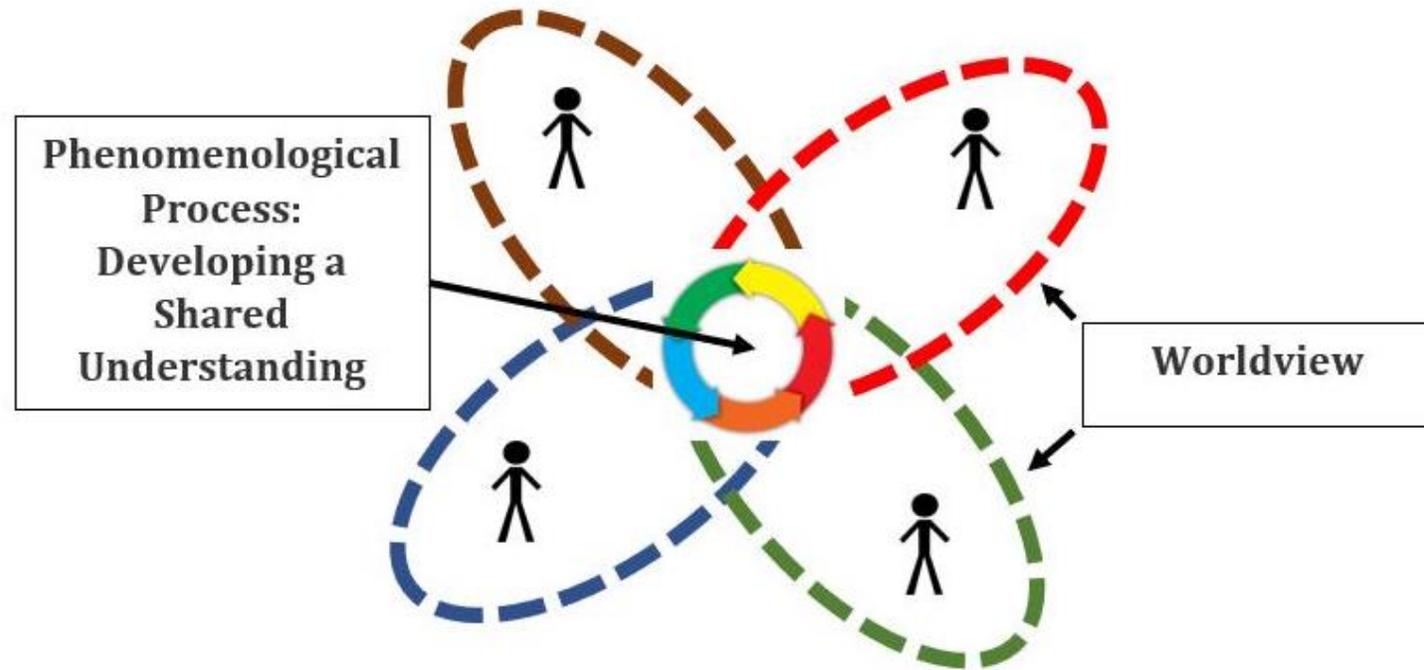

Classism

- The importance of missing work is a world view that differs between cultural.
- The provider may feel it is a necessary requirement for the well-being of the client.
- The low-income family for whom that time off work has a significant impact on their livelihood would not agree.
- We must remember that this work flexibility is a middle and upper-class luxury that should not impact our perception of our clients
- A provider's role is to be active not dominating

Different Worldview

- Lack of understanding of unique life experiences
- Lack of knowledge about cultural systems of healing
- Lack of participation of in one's own treatment

02/21/2019

The Problem with traditional treatment

Traditional treatment is most effective with middle to upper class of European decent

Medical practice past/present keep people from trusting medical and behavioral health institutions

02/21/2019

The Practice

- Demonstrate respect for your experience- Your experience is yours to own.
- Translate your meaning- Say what you mean and mean what you say. Don't say what you think others want to hear.
- Listen to yourself- If you choose to blend in with the crowd then you give up the opportunity to stand out from the crowd.
- Give your accurate location- Own your experience in time
- Demonstrate that you are coachable- We need to be open to self-discovery without being concerned with popular opinion or hurt feelings.

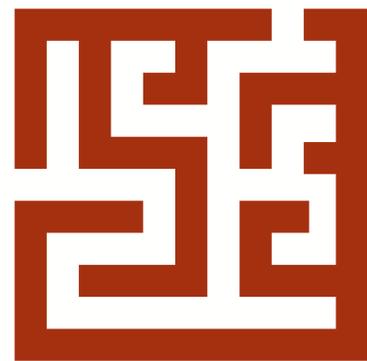

How do our lived experiences affect situations?

Examining ideologies

NORMS FOR COURAGEOUS CONVERSATIONS

COMMON CHALLENGES

Doesn't want to be there, doesn't see the point, insincere efforts.

Establishing trust and safe space. Effective facilitation.

Fear that topic & emotions will derail conversation. Avoiding tough questions.

Comfort with discomfort. Staying engaged.

Focus on you, not the feedback.

Comparing experiences or -isms, not using "I" statements.

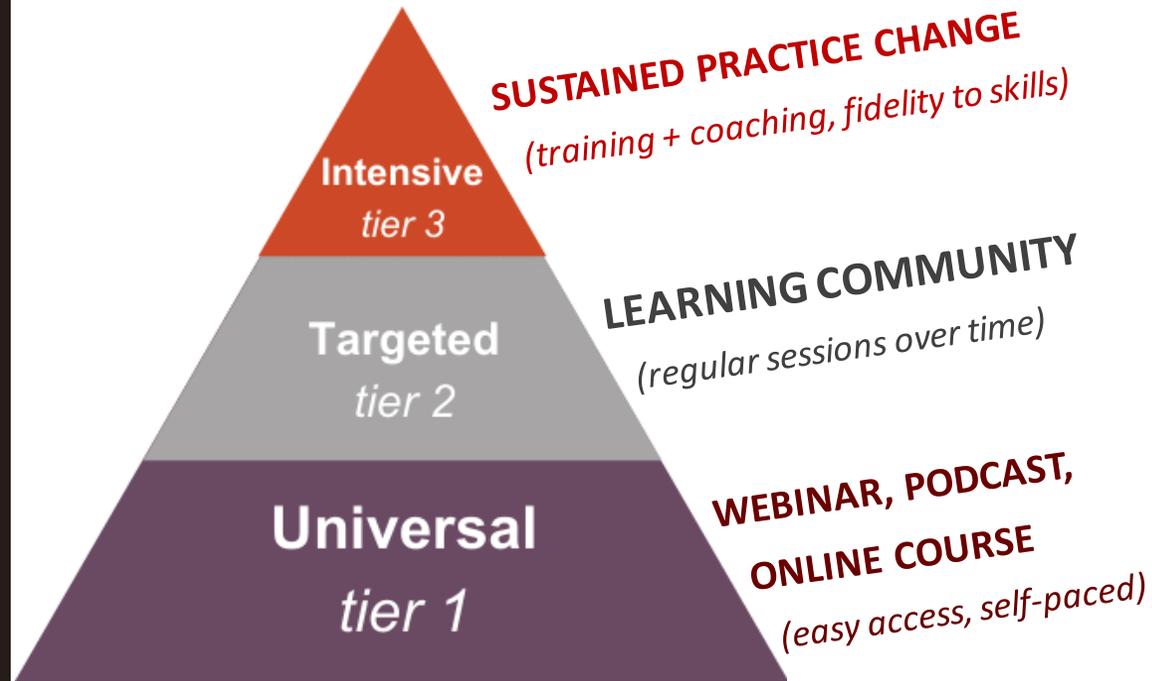

Focused on outcome not process.

Outcomes & Feedback

The relatability and authenticity of the instructor made it easy to participate and do self-exploration.

Sharing our feelings of imposter syndrome, I felt less alone & truly connected to this community!

Open discussion about a topic that is not widely discussed with tips on how to engage others.

Pushing me to see things from various perspectives; new ways to approach a challenging topic.

Acknowledgement that this work is hard and challenging us to really bring anti-racism into our workplace

Come from equity-first perspective instead of the other way around. Seek out information rather than expecting others to tell you.

QUOTES FROM LEARNERS

"anti-racism = an awareness plus an action" -- anti-racism is more than "thinking the right thoughts."

Knowing others are also having the same questions, feelings, concerns, and confusion with the topic.

Appreciate the shift from "we should stand up with those people," to "how do I perpetuate, contribute to, or benefit from this?"

We can't change others; we can only change ourselves, and yet, in changing ourselves, we invite others to change also. Thank you so much for this training!

To examine my own contribution to bias and oppression; to explore all sides of information and history.

Transgender perspective diversity and remembering, embracing, recognizing, understanding our differences

QUOTES FROM LEARNERS

WHAT PEOPLE WANT MORE OF:

I wish my whole department was here at this training!

A longer training to be able to go deeper on the subject

Real hands-on examples for policy and practice change

More concrete ideas on how to create the culture shift we discussed

Specific examples of effective ways to interrupt implicit bias in the clinical setting

More of this! We come together through talking about these issues openly, honestly, and fearlessly.
