

State Mental Health Profile 2019: Ohio

Mental Health Infrastructure

Ohio has a county-operated, state supervised behavioral health system in a “home rule” state where local behavioral health tax levies provide additional resources for recovery supports in most communities. Ohio’s Block Grant Plan is integrated with Community Plans developed by Ohio’s county behavioral health authorities, the Alcohol, Drug Addiction and Mental Health Services (ADAMHS) Boards.

These Boards plan, evaluate and fund mental health and addiction services in 50 county and multi-county “Board” areas serving 88 counties. The Boards contract with many providers for prevention, treatment and recovery support, and are prohibited by state law from providing treatment services, with some exceptions.

With the expansion of Medicaid in Ohio, community behavioral health treatment providers receive a portion of their revenue from the Ohio Department of Medicaid (ODM), and are licensed or certified by the Ohio Department of Mental Health and Addiction Services (Ohio MHAS). Some “Medicaid only” providers do not contract with the county boards, and many of the larger providers have expanded into multiple counties across the state.

Mental health and addiction services provided in primary care clinics, community hospital emergency rooms and federally qualified health care centers are part of the behavioral health services available to Ohioans, but are not addressed in this plan, because they are not licensed, certified or operated by Ohio MHAS.

As a result, Ohio has a very complex behavioral health care system that will continue to evolve in response to changes in federal and state policies.
