Workshop Descriptions:

July 22, 9:00-12:00

Marijuana: Drug Facts and Policy Updates

Trainer: Betsy Jones

Marijuana affects every part of a community, from public health and safety to racial and economic disparity. This workshop will cover marijuana facts, myths, and trends, effects on the body and brain, cannabis use disorder, medical issues, legalization updates, and the historical treatment of cannabis and people who use it. We will look at data from legal and decriminalized states and discuss common misconceptions about the drug and its effects.

Prevention Specialist Domain 5: Public Policy and Environmental Change

Prevention of Opioids and Prescription Drug Misuse Among the Latino Community

Trainer: Dolka Zelaya

This workshop will address what we know about the effects of the opioid epidemic within the Latino community. In particular, Latino youth.

Prevention Specialist Domain 2: Prevention Education and Service Delivery

Sustaining Partnerships with the Faith Community

Trainer: Tracy Johnson

Prevention Specialist Domain 4: Community Organization

Prevention Basics

Trainer: Mitchell Moore

This workshop will help participants understand the basics of prevention including the six prevention domains, Behavioral Health, the continuum of care, the public health approach and risk & protective factors.

Prevention Specialist Domain 1: Planning and Evaluation

Ethics for the Prevention Professional (Part 1)

Trainer: Julie Stevens

“Ethics for the Prevention Professional” is designed specifically for the behavioral health promotion and substance abuse prevention professional and fulfills the Prevention Specialist credential ethics requirement. This workshop will improve the understanding of and ability to apply a set of accepted standards/principles that guide the behaviors and actions of both individuals and organizations working in the prevention profession.

*This is a two part course; participants must attend both the morning and afternoon sessions

Prevention Specialist Domain 6: Professional Growth and Responsibility

July 22, 1:30-4:30

Community Coalitions: Members Taking it to the Next Level Creating Long Term Change

Trainer: Boyd Baxter

Community coalitions of today are highly advanced collaborations of community organizations that play an important role in reducing youth substance use, and changing the cultural norms of the community. The coalition that uses effective training and community member engagement will have strong community advocates. These advocates can be the most effective tool for advancing public policy. This training will examine two very different initiatives Social Host Accountability and Tobacco 21 that lead to the same result of reducing youth access. We will show how using a flexible framework of action steps will keep the coalition energized, alert, and on track as we explore the many ways coalition members can be involved.

Prevention Specialist Domain 4: Community Organization

Marijuana, CBD and Vaping 101 and Latino Youth

Trainer: Judy Mezey

This workshop will provide an overview of Marijuana, CBD and youth vaping from what the devices look like, to why vaping is a concern with a specific focus on Latino youth. The workshop begins with a show and tell of commonly used vape products, including the Juul. Youth are vaping e-juice with flavorings, nicotine, and high potency THC concentrates.

We will cover the risks of each of these products. Using data from the Monitoring the Future survey, the webinar will discuss prevalence and trends among Latino Youth.	drug treatment. However, young people's substance use differs greatly along a continuum between these two points and approaches should too. Consideration that includes level of individual's use, from risky to chaotic; their motivation to change their behavior; appropriateness for treatment; as well as other factors are key in deciding on best approaches. In this workshop, participants will explore a strategies aligned with NIDA's "Principles of Adolescent Substance Use Interventions" for youth who fall within this "gap."

Prevention Specialist Domain 2: Prevention Education and Service Delivery	Changing demographics have profound implications for all aspects and activities in a community. To create equitable prevention focused environments for diverse youth and their families, we must engage the entire community in a cultural and linguistically appropriate manner. A community faced with rapidly changing demographics will benefit by engaging in a vigorous, ongoing, and systemic process of professional development to prepare to function effectively in a highly diverse environment. We must understand the dynamics and impact of culture in order to be able to deliver effective programs. This course will help prevention providers understand how to incorporate cultural competence as they work through each of the elements of the SPF.

Positive Alternatives

Trainer: Ricardo Aleman

Experiential learning through Positive Alternatives will help attendees engage their participants in a fun interactive experience that not only builds a connection with participants and the prevention specialist, but also helps the participants build relationships and trust with each other. The activities will consist of ice breakers, team building exercises, and trust initiatives that require little to no props which all help the participant(s) gain leadership skills and team building/peer bonding. During this breakout session, the prevention specialist will learn how to prepare, facilitate, and debrief (process) the activity.

Prevention Specialist Domain 2: Prevention Education and Service Delivery

CLAS - Cultural and Linguistic Appropriate Standards

Trainer: Alycia Welch, Andres Guariguata

During this workshop you will learn about the 15 National Cultural and Linguistic Appropriate Standards (CLAS) and understand the purpose and benefits of implementing CLAS. Throughout this process you will be able to get in touch with your own attitudes, values and beliefs - what they are, and where they come from. A crucial aspect of this self-knowledge will be help learners get in touch with their way of seeing the world.

Prevention Specialist Domain 2: Prevention Education and Service Delivery

Supervision of the Prevention Specialist

Trainer: Julie Stevens

As an advancing field of professional service, substance abuse prevention is expanding through levels of certification and through concurrent initiatives with behavioral health. As the certification process advances in states, jurisdictions and tribes, there is little to no training specifically for supervising prevention staff. The basic goals of supervision of the prevention specialist are to assure the delivery of high-quality interventions, create a positive work environment, and develop staff professional and administrative skills. This session will discuss characteristics of effective supervisors, the prevention supervisor job description, and supervision tools.

Prevention Specialist Domain 6: Professional Growth and Responsibility

Suicide Prevention - At the Intersection of Suicide, Substance Abuse and Mental Health

Trainer: Mitchell Moore

Co-occurring issues have common risk and protective factors. By knowing these shared risk and protective factors we begin to better serve our community, and prevent multiple behavioral health issues. SAMHSA and SPRC have identified risk and protective factors for suicide. SPRC has also identified steps to take immediately after a community or school suicide takes place to prevent contagion. Almost anyone can take action to help prevent suicide. By understanding warning signs and your role as a professional you may be able to intervene before self-harming behavior is enacted.

Prevention Specialist Domain 6: Professional Growth and Responsibility

July 24, 1:30 - 4:30

Join the Party: Rethinking Youth Engagement

Trainer: David McClung

Research indicates that youth who are engaged in their communities and have relationships with supportive adults are more likely to have successful outcomes. In practice, providers may often find that there a number of barriers to authentically engaging youth in decision making within their agency. In this interactive workshop, participants will have the opportunity to learn strategies for eliminating barriers to youth engagement and engage in conversation to explore how to expand youth voice in their local communities.

Prevention Specialist Domain 4: Community Organization

Mobilizing to Keep Powdered Alcohol off the Shelves

Trainer: Nicole Holt

Powdered alcohol poses many potential harms related to misuse and overconsumption (especially among young people). Texans Standing Tall (TST) and our community partners created a coalition that advocates against making the product available in Texas. We will discuss the specific grassroots strategies used to educate and empower coalition members and lawmakers, such as 1) holding an Advocacy Day event and coordinating constituent visits to targeted legislators; 2) organizing and providing testimony at State House and Senate hearings; 3) employing a media strategy and social media campaign; and 4) next steps to ensure the product is banned during the next Legislative Session.

Prevention Specialist Domain 5: Public Policy and Environmental Change

Marijuana Myths

Trainer: Rudy Garcia

With the decriminalization of marijuana youth perception of harm has decreased and use has increased. Participants will be able to distinguish from facts and myths of Marijuana use.

Prevention Specialist Domain 6: Professional Growth and Responsibility

Sharpening Your Presentation Skills

Trainer: Mitchell Moore

The ability to demonstrate interpersonal communication competency and communicate effectively with various audiences are two skills that every prevention specialist should have. This workshop will help participants sharpen their public presentation skills by applying the principles of public speaking.

Prevention Specialist Domain 3: Communications

July 25, 9:00-12:00

Facilitating Youth Engagement in the Classroom

Trainer: Rudy Garcia

Participants will gain information on specific skills of facilitation and strategies to keep youth engaged throughout the implementation of Substance Abuse Prevention Programs. Participants will gain tools and tips for meaningful Youth Engagement. In addition participants will learn how to apply and practice skills for youth engagement.

Prevention Specialist Domain 2: Prevention Education and Service Delivery

Managing Volunteers to Maximize Success

Trainer: Brent Blackburn

What strategies do you use to get the most out of your volunteers? During this workshop we will look at different aspects of recruiting, training, and utilizing volunteers. Brent will share his experience in managing volunteers for over twenty years. Bring your ideas, your questions and be ready to share in the experience.

Prevention Specialist Domain 4: Community Organization

Prevention, Behavioral Health and Wellness

Trainer: Marcia Baker

This training will provide an overview of how prevention, behavioral health and wellness work together. Participants will be able to look at evidenced based practices to assist them in evaluating and changing their own life and the life of people in their communities.

Prevention Specialist Domain 2: Prevention Education and Service Delivery

Facilitation Skills for Professionals

Trainer: Mitchell Moore

According to Domain 3, Task 6- Prevention specialist should be able to employ effective facilitation skills. This workshop will help participants to facilitate effective meetings, understand landmarks in the group process, and learn a simple consensus building technique.

Prevention Specialist Domain 3: Communication

July 25, 1:30-4:30

Positive Youth Development

Trainer: Brytani Cavil

This training was designed in order to provide a concrete and consistent message about positive youth development across the state of Texas for agencies that create or implement policy or practices impacting youth. Its goal is to provide local community stakeholders with the tools necessary to understand the foundation and benefits of PYD, in hopes that they are able to spark dialogue among their colleagues to incorporate PYD in their work.

Prevention Specialist Domain 2: Prevention Education and Service Delivery

Pulling Teeth or Working With Young People?

Trainer: Brent Blackburn

Perceptions these days about working with young people make it seem like a visit to the dentist is more desirable than working with young people. In this workshop participants will explore their attitudes and perceptions of working with young people. We will also explore best practices for building successful youth/adult partnerships. By the end of the workshop you will be ready to cancel your dental appointment. (*Not recommended by the American Dental Association)

Prevention Specialist Domain 4: Community Organization

Prevention: Motivation for Change

Trainer: Marcia Baker

This presentation will provide participants information on theory and practice of motivation for change in the field of prevention. Prevention can provide important information to individuals, families and communities. Participants will be introduced to evidenced based principles to enhance the delivery of information and enhance motivation in the delivery of prevention information.

Prevention Specialist Domain 3: Communication

Tips, Tricks and Techniques for Facilitation

Trainer: Mitchell Moore

During this interactive workshop participants will discover how to use activities for learning, process anything using a simple 3 step process and discover pure facilitation. Participants will also leave with at least two activities that they can incorporate into their public presentations.
